OUR SACRED SITES

The Fire Temple

Nestled in a circle of local stones, the Fire Temple is entered through a dramatic ten foot flaming archway sculpted by California artist, Megan Beecher, aka Sacred Flame. The unique, natural setting of this temple makes it a perfect space for initiations or rites of passage – such as a fire walking ceremony.

The Spirit Temple Deck

Overlooking panoramic views of the surrounding mountains, The Spirit Temple Deck is large enough for a gathering of 60 people. At nearly 4,000 feet high, this is the destination of choice for ceremonies at sunrise and sunset. Star-gazing and astrology classes are conducted here – and it's a lovely place to read or meditate.

The Blue Star Labyrinth

Deeper into the Sanctuary forest, The Star Labyrinth is a large gathering space to host an inner beloved workshop or a sacred union ceremony for up to 80 people. Walk through the labyrinth as a group or solo to explore your inner landscape. This sacred site is a place where you can see the sky and surrounding mountains from a clearing in the woods.

The Healing Garden

A failing pond in the heart of the Sanctuary has recently been beautifully transformed into a cascading stream with a Celestial Gazebo with a mandala painting on the inside ceiling, and additional plantings. All who enjoy the Garden through their six senses will benefit from its healing powers. Picture perfect for a small wedding or intimate commitment ceremony.

The Star Tetrahedron

In a remote part of the property sits The Star Tetrahedron, a 3-dimensional portal where groups (up to 15 people) or individuals can pray, meditate, engage in ceremony, manifest dreams, or engage in “as above or so below” teachings. The Star Tetrahedron is a vortex designed to allow you to engage your spirit guides from star origins and elsewhere.

The Stone Medicine Wheel

At the very peak of the Sanctuary is the 55' diameter Stone Bear Tribe Medicine Wheel. Each of the 27 ancient stones weighs between 1500-2000 pounds and is guarded by bear and wolf statues. The Medicine Wheel is host to ritual, prayer, and teachings – and is the best site to commune with the eagles and hawks and see for miles and miles..

The Sweat Lodges

There are multiple Sweat Lodges within the Sanctuary that echo the purification ceremonies performed in Native American and Central American cultures. Experienced on site facilitators perform these ceremonies or a group's trained outside facilitator may also act as water pourer. Each Sweat Lodge comfortable seats about 15 people.

The Sanctuary Collection

Inside the Sanctuary is a collection of altar cloths, divine imagery, and sacred objects. Visitors are welcome to use these items to build focal points to serve their intention and ceremony. As visitors to the Illuminated Heart Sanctuary explore the land, mini-altars appear throughout, adorned for impromptu ceremony as the spirit flows.
